Essay on Travelling: My Experiences (600 Words)

Introduction: I am a traveler and love to travel all across the world. I have been to a few countries already and going to share my experience with you. I hope you will like my experience. I started traveling from a very young age. I am a solo-backpacker. I always prefer to travel alone, but wherever I go I make a few friends on Facebook before. And then I love to meet and greet them in their place. This is really interesting to me.

My India Travelling: I started visiting India a few years ago and I think I have come across the major spots. In my first ever tour was from Kolkata to Darjeeling. I was really amazed and that was a journey by train. I was really thrilled. The beauty of Darjeeling made me speechless.

And I started to think that if Darjeeling is so much beautiful then what about Sikkim, Simla, or Kashmir? And then I thought to travel Kashmir. That was a priceless experience. The place is totally different from where I live. That was like another world to me. I stayed there for two weeks and enjoyed nature. After that, I went there again and I wish to visit that amazing place again and again.

My Bangladesh Travelling: There are a few reasons that are why I decided to visit Bangladesh. Lots of people were sharing a few amazing facts on Bangladesh, these were really inspiring and I was thinking to visit. Few interesting things that, I just need to share with everyone about Bangladesh.

I loved the atmosphere and the people a lot. They are so much friendly. I have made lots of friends. They are always smiling. Even the rickshaw-puller in Dhaka seems the happiest person on this planet. There are a few spots that you can't afford to miss if you visit Bangladesh.

I loved Cox's Bazar a lot. I was amazed to know that it's the longest unbroken sea beach in the entire world. I loved the marine drive there. I really loved my experience. The Sylhet division is full of green beauty. There are lots of tea gardens and pretty similar to Darjeeling.

It seems Sylhet is the richest and developed area in Bangladesh. With tea gardens, they have few rivers and Hawor for a river cruise. I went for a river cruise on the Surma River. Surma is one of the most important rivers for Bangladesh. The experience was golden and I loved it. I recommend people to visit Bangladesh.

What I Have Learned about Travelling? By traveling I have learned so many interesting things. The most interesting thing to me is language. I can speak Bengali and Telegu. I am a good English speaker and can communicate with anyone through English, that language helps me to learn the third one. Now I can speak and read on a total of five languages. Besides language, I have made lots of friends. Few of them have visited my place.

Conclusion: My travel experience is really awesome. I suggest everyone travel more and more. It will help you to grow your mind. You will be able to think big. The world is a really interesting place to see.
